FRESHMEN AND REV. JOHN J. REED, S.J., DEAN OF MEN, ON QUADRANGLE STEPS

CLASS OF 1942 RECEIVES WELCOME BY PURPLE KEY COMMITTEE

High Mass Ushers In School Year

Fr. Rector Celebrates Solemn Mass Of Holy Ghost

The School year officially began Monday morning, September 26, when the Very Reverend Francis J. Dolan, S.J., president of Holy Cross college officiated at the solemn High Mass of the Holy Ghost.

Before 8:40 all the seats of the chapel were occupied and students were compelled to line both sides of the chapel walls. A general air of reverence was observed on all sides as students humbly petitioned the Teacher of Teachers to aid them and enlighten them in their studious pursuit for the coming scholastic year.

The colorful procession of the lay faculty, followed by the reverend clergy and finally by the Celebrant, the Reverend Father Dolan, S.J., the Deacon, the Reverend Father Reed, and the Reverend Father Shea, sub-deacon, was indeed an awe-inspiring sight.

Incidentally, while the aforementioned ceremony was taking place inside the chapel, workmen quietly continued repair work on the roof.

The choir, after a summer of inactivity sang the responses with a feeling and mellowness almost unparalleled in its history. The solemnity with which the Mass was endowed gave the entire student body, both seniors and underclassmen a precursory view of the import of the forthcoming year.

Freshmen Gain Helping Hand, Advice, From Senior Group Who Aid In Ritual Of Registration

The Purple Key performed its first important function of the year on September 17th, in the role of welcoming committee to the Class of 1942. The freshmen, three hundred and forty-eight strong, were greeted on their arrival at Mount St. James by a corps of Seniors who at once made each new student right at home in his new surroundings. The committee was composed of Senior members of the Purple Key, assisted by several others who volunteered their time and energy to assist the incoming first year men.

If the inclement weather was discouraging to the Freshmen, on their first day, certainly the attitude of the Seniors was most encouraging. For the gowned receptionists were at hand at all important positions throughout O'Kane and Fenwick, ready to direct, aid, or advise any of the new classmen during the formerly arduous task of registration. There were men in the Lounge, who took care of baggage and answered any and all questions, from anxious parents or troubled Freshmen, questions which ranged from the amount of allowance needed for a student, to the location of the swimming pool. More Seniors were to be found throughout the Administration Hall in Fenwick, who were constantly busy directing the students to the various rooms designated in the ritual of registration. Still more were busy showing Freshmen who had finished registration, to their rooms in O'Kane, Fenwick, Alumni and the Annex, while a final group aided on the grounds and in Kimball Hall.

In all, the reception was a great success and the process of registration was accomplished with greater speed and facility than ever before. As a final word—our congratulations to the Purple Key for a grand job well done and to the Freshmen, we can only add our sincere welcome to Holy Cross.

REGISTRATION

Although full registration figures will not be known for a few days, Registrar Raymond D. Kennedy has given the TOMAHAWK the following statistics as to the number of registered students at the present time:

Seniors — 263
Juniors — 289
Sophomores — 319
Freshmen — 348
Post Graduates — 6
Total — 1225

It is expected that the resumption of normal traveling facilities will bring the enrollment figure to a somewhat higher number.

ATTENTION, STUDENTS!

All present members of the Tomahawk staff and all freshmen who wish to associate themselves with this publication in the future will please assemble for a brief but very important meeting tomorrow evening at 7 P.M. in the Tomahawk office in lower Loyola.

Storm Hits College In All Its Fury Causing Irreparable Damage

Registration Held Up By Worst Storm In The College History

Leo H. Leary, Jr., '40

It is doubtful if the final registration of the class of '39 will ever be forgotten. Other classes have made their entrances but never before have the powers of nature risen to the front and heralded a class as they did last Wednesday. To be sure, we are all pretty well fed up with various reports of the storm, and the catch phrase, "Local and County Bulletins" will ring in our ears for many a week. Nevertheless for the sake of history, let us review the hurricane with regard to the damage it caused here at Holy Cross.

To New England, a storm of such great force, was an entirely new experience. A member of the faculty, who has made a study of such occurrences, gave the following explanation. The ordinary storm in the United States is of a West-East variety; your extraordinary storms are of the South-North class. These latter usually start in the West Indies, bear West, thus hitting Florida, turn Northeast and then drift out to sea. Last week, storm signals had been put out in Florida and the states far South. However, here in New England there was a storm already in progress. Storms of course are low pressure areas, and instead of bearing West to Florida as these low pressure areas usually do, they headed straight North and descended with all their

SEN. LODGE IN NEW PURPLE

Four newcomers, headed by the Junior senator from Massachusetts, Henry Cabot Lodge, featured the first edition of the Holy Cross Purple, and all proved themselves masters of the imaginative pen as well as thought content. Moreover, our recently appointed editor - in - chief, Francis W. Sweeney, '39 accomplished a splendid job, both as composer and as manager.

Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge discusses in his article, "College Graduates in Politics" the divers chances, the difficulties, the trials of the modern job-hunter in that risky field of endeavor. Leonard Swager, '42 Freshman extraordinaire, published his initial attempt, with an excellent poem entitled, "Evening Verse." J. B. Plouffe, '40, surprised us all with his "Life Goes to a Party"—why couldn't Fran White have been at least eighteen years old?

Tyro, G. Victor Schlitzer, proved himself a veteran in the literary game as well as aesthetics with his essay on art in the Editorial department. William Schultz, '39 tells of les citoyens' place in the world today with regard to the European situation. He and Francis Sweeney, '39 have been unfailing in their contributions—and each is unique and masterful in treatment. The latter presents two poems and the "Knight's Tale."

Rev. Peter A. O'Brien, S.J. Sudden Victim of Heart Attack

In Memoriam

On Sunday, June 26th, the many friends of Father Peter A. O'Brien, S.J., Professor of Latin and English at Holy Cross, were shocked by the news of his sudden death at Keyser Island, South Norwalk, Conn., summer home of the Jesuits of the New England Province. A heart affection, which had slowly undermined his health, finally proved to be fatal.

To those who knew Father O'Brien intimately, this was a crushing blow. For, though unobtrusive and retiring in manner, he had never gone anywhere without meeting friends or making them. His genial nature and quiet, boyish wit won him a warm place in the hearts of all. He was as much an authority on sports as he was on Letters. And he is mourned, not only by the many friends he made in all brackets of life, but by the host of students to whom he was endeared, and especially by the Faculties of the Jesuit Colleges, where he gave his all—in labor and comradeship—for the cause of His Master—Ad Majorem Dei Gloriam.

Rev. Peter A. O'Brien, S.J.

College Priest Is Mourned

Father O'Brien was born in Boston, Nov. 29, 1896. On graduating from Boston College High School, he entered the Novitiate of the Society of Jesus at St. Andrew-on-Hudson, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Aug. 14, 1915. Then followed three years of Philosophy and Pedagogy at Woodstock College, Md., after which he began his teaching career as Professor of Classics at St. Joseph's College, Philadelphia. His theological studies were made at Weston College, Weston, Mass., where he was ordained to the priesthood June 20th, 1928.

His extensive course in Theology finished, Father O'Brien spent one year at Holy Cross as Professor of Classics and English, and the next year he was sent to take a special course in higher Theology at Manresa Hall, Port Townsend, Washington. His teaching labors as a Jesuit priest were continued thereafter at Boston College and for the past year at Holy Cross. As a teacher, he seemed to have approached the Ideal, for he was more than a teacher. He was a friend. Wherever anyone, student, layman, or member of the Faculty needed assistance of any kind, Father O'Brien never reckoned his own convenience in doling out time and energy to help where he could.

His funeral was held here at Holy Cross Wednesday, June 29th. One of the largest groups of mourners ever to pay respect to any Jesuit on Mt. St. James, visited his body as it lay in state, and were present at the simple Mass said by Rev. Francis J. Dolan, S.J., President of Holy Cross College, at 9 o'clock, in St. Joseph's Memorial Chapel. The Mass was preceded by the Office of the Dead, chanted by the Faculty Choir at 8.30. After the Mass, as the College bell tolled the De Profundis, and other bells in the City joined in the public requiem for his soul, Father O'Brien was laid to rest in the little Jesuit Cemetery on the Hill.

On Monday, July 4th, a requiem High Mass was offered in his home parish — Church of the Blessed Sacrament, Jamaica Plain, — at 7 o'clock and once more the friends of Father O'Brien crowded the doors in token of their affection for him who was always a friend to all.

Surviving him are his father, Martin O'Brien, Sister Josephine of Convent Station, N. J., two other sisters, Miss Mary O'Brien and Mrs. Helen Flynn, and two brothers, James L. and John J., all of Boston.

LEE, '42, FIRST TO REGISTER

Amid the usual flurry of excitement and anticipation on Freshman Registration day, Robert William Lee of 61 Havelock Road, Worcester, Massachusetts, gained the honor of being the first member of the class of '42 to add his name to the list of Holy Cross undergraduates. Lee, an 18-year-old graduate of Classical High School in Worcester, included in his pre-college activities, memberships on the track team and in the "Tiger" and "Pythagorean" clubs. He is enrolled in the AB Honors Course.

violence upon the Northeastern States. So we have the storms of Monday and Tuesday to blame for our visitor of Wednesday. One interesting fact to note though, is that this hurricane traveled at a rate of speed never heard of before, it went at the rate of 60 m.p.h. whereas the storm center's ordinary rate is 25 m.p.h. Mind, we are not speaking now of the velocity of the wind but the rate the storm center itself progressed. This speed can be further estimated if we take this into consideration—chimney of another factory farther down the river added to the destruction already being wrought on the premises. The Blackstone, always spoken of in jest as a river, had suddenly turned into a torrent and was threatening its banks. The grounds behind Kimball were swirling with branches and whole trees, ripped asunder by the fury of the gale. It was impossible to count the number that had been uprooted for they were to be seen on all sides.

Our attention was drawn now to the Quad where a sight met our eyes that will never be forgotten. Huge chunks of slate were flying through the air and at such a rate that they were driven four and five inches into the ground. Two members of the student body were hit, one on the arm, and the other on the back of the head. A vote of thanks should be given to a member of the football squad for the grand job he did. Many fellows were standing on the steps of Kimball and this man quickly took command and herded them all into the building where they were safe from flying slate. From Kimball one could see trees uprooted in all directions. The walk in front of the chapel was cluttered with trees, and the embankments from the Quad to Fenwick, were strewn with wreckage.

After supper, the wind died down and it was safe to look around further. Perhaps to all Holy Cross men the saddest result of the hurricane was the damage done to Linden Lane. Linden Lane could almost be called the symbol of the college on the hill. It is in our songs and our memories. The wind made its presence felt and now about twenty beautiful lindens are no more, and their loss is almost irreparable. A window of Beaven was blown in, the score board on the football field was knocked over, a cross was blown from the roof of Fenwick, and all of the buildings had their roofs damaged. It would be almost impossible to estimate the total loss suffered, but one party stated that the college suffered to the extent of $20,000.

The next day came the task of clearing up the debris. The college put to work all the men available. Led by senior class members a large crew of underclassmen set to work and cleared away the wreckage from the Quadrangle. It was noted that the freshmen were prominent among the group and that even now they show that they have entered into the spirit of the college by their eager cooperation.

Classes have again been resumed, returning seniors, held up in various spots have now registered, and the day students can make their way to Mt. St. James without having to dig through wreckage and without having to duck flying timbers.

AN ACT OF GOD

Holy Cross has experienced its first hurricane and now that it's over, we say fervently "thank God." All sorts of explanations have been made as to why the freak storm visited us. Scientists have their case to offer, but to us as Catholics, the spiritual explanation is much more satisfying. We have witnessed the power of God and the narration of personal experiences from people in Worcester and other cities should bring us to our knees in thanksgiving. We were fortunate.

The number of deaths is mounting daily, but it is incredible that many more were not killed. Rhode Island and the towns along the coast were especially hard hit but when we realize how terrible the disaster would have been, had the storm struck those places only a month ago, when they were crowded with vacationers, we can only say "Deo gratias."

Here at the College, trees toppled and slate flew from the roofs but there was no serious injury to any of the student body or faculty. For that, we should be grateful. Outside the college it was a different story.

The people of nearby towns have gone through much in the last few days. Many have seen cherished ones die or their homes ripped apart by the wind. If we cannot help them in a financial way we can certainly help them with our prayers, as they face the challenging task of clearing away the wreckage and building new homes.

To those whose folks suffered from the hurricane by loss of life or property we extend our sympathy.

J. Joseph Kierce, '39

To the men who heard — and answered — the call of the Divine: Bernie Kane, Johnny McEneaney, Mark Sullivan, Joe Riel, Ray Swords, Joe Marbach, Joe Zeintz, Chuck Collins, Larry Murphy, Bill Harrington, Jack Reilly, Bill Wall, Connie Flynn, Bob Foudy, Tom Lynes, Woodrow Piotrowski, Al Budnick, and Paul White. We knew you for what you were. We are not surprised that you are to be among the Chosen Few.

Holy Cross went berserk last week, and it wasn't because of the hurricane either. To those who knew Crown Prince Willie of the regal Turnesas, the reason was evident. A more gentlemanly, thoughtful, and unassuming fellow it has never been our good pleasure to meet.

Congratulations to Bob Gavin and his newly formed Wisconsin Club. Bob will furnish the name or names of the member or members of the club for a future edition of the TOMAHAWK.

After having put a couple of doors and parts of a new motor into the limousine he bought last July, Frank Duggan decided that it was about ready to take a few of his friends for a ride. When it had chugged, after thirteen stops, some forty-five miles in the amazingly fast time of nine or ten hours, the junk finally arrived at the toll bridge near Hampton Beach.

"Thirty cents," cried the gateman.
"Sold," replied the Dug.

News Item: We got hit by the tail end of the hurricane last week, but what a tale of horror and desolation it left behind.

Out of the many curious facts taken from the disaster, we found the following coincidence particularly striking. One hundred and three years, to the very day, after his great-grandfather's log cabin had been washed out to sea, Dashing Don Dunphy's palatial residence at Misquamicutt suffered the same fate.

Don was the only resident who was able to save any of the furniture, and he rescued only a lone pillow. His case is typical of the havoc caused.

We wish to extend a sincere vote of thanks to the thoughtful seniors and underclassmen who so willingly gave of their time and efforts to clean up the shambles that was our campus during the past week. That's putting school spirit to practical use.

RIDING CLUB

There will be a meeting for all members of the Riding Club tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock in Room 24, at 7:30 the meeting will be open to candidates for admission. Freshmen are especially asked to attend . . . but not until 7:30.

By Hughes Hayes Harlow

There must be something in the philosophy that a Broadway play which can successfully survive the ravages of Manhattan's summer heat is ipse facto topping good theater. If there is not, it was a charming coincidence that among the four plays that we jammed into three August days, there was not a single lemon.

It is difficult to cram the criticism of four plays into this limited space and do justice to any, so we shall take only one this week, and the others, in the order in which we saw them.

The first in our crowded repertory of play-going was that screaming comedy of adolescence and high-school, 'What a Life.' That, too, has had considerable publicity, and it is almost unnecessary to say that it centers about the difficulties of Bill, a high school senior, in trying to raise the funds to take his fairest rose to the prom.

As Henry Aldrich, the principal,

Esra Stone has received so much praise as to make ours superfluous. It is regrettable that his duties as an honest-to-Jupiter school-teacher during the academic year prevented his appearance in the current Boston run.

Technically, 'What a Life' had the finesse so characteristic of the productions of Mr. Abbott. The acting was thorough, deep, and natural. Eddie Bracken, one of the brightest stars of 'Brother Rat' gives a sterling performance as Bill, whose troubles seem far more serious to him than Napoleon's. We could go through each cast from bottom to top, giving each a bouquet, but suffice it to say that as an exhibition of clever and finished acting, 'What a Life' stands high.

It is wholeheartedly amusing, and deals with a well known and fondly remembered phase of life that is, to us, not too remote. We beg to suggest that you drop down to Boston and take it in.

"It is well that the author is making these volumes, published originally as a digest of lectures for students of philosophy at Holy Cross College, accessible to a larger reading public."
—America.

"The amount of matter included in these texts is noteworthy. Students completing the two volumes will have passed a fairly active two-semester course and may feel that they have practically all the essentials and details that a course in Scholastic Ethics can offer."
—Modern Schoolman, May, 1930.

"Father Sullivan has presented his theses in syllogistic form. This adds greatly to the value of these volumes both in the classroom and in the hands of students."
—Catholic World, November, 1930.

"I like your orderly arrangement and method in treating the subject and find your books very useful."
Rev. John F. Wilson, O.S.A., Villanova College, Villanova, Pa.

"This last definition, gentlemen, I take from the 'Special Ethics' of one of your neighbors, Rev. Joseph Sullivan, S.J., professor of Ethics at Holy Cross College, a book to recommend, I take the liberty to recommend to you . . . I feel sure that if you read that book you will admit that you will have been helped to think more clearly and more helpfully on what is right and wrong in all these domains."

Professor Louis J. A. Mercier, A.M., Litt.D., Harvard University, (From an address delivered before the Springfield, Mass. City Club.)

"The exposition is uniformly clear and the arguments well sustained."
Ecclesiastical Review, October, 1930.

"We are finding these volumes very satisfactory for the senior class in philosophy as a text book."

Rev. Frank J. Monaghan, College of St. Elizabeth, Convent Station, N. J.

PURPLE PENNINGS

Jack Kelley, '39

The lid was blown Saturday last, and the official introducer was Bill Osmanski, which of course pleased everyone . . . The club, incidentally is one of the most potential of recent years and that covers some pretty good territory . . . We thought sophomore Monaco was the best linesman on the field . . . Tom Meehan had his cheerleaders out and who was in the contingent but Seymour McLean who undoubtedly adds much color to the game . . . Meehan has a most extensive fall program on for the rallies and of course one of the big attractions will be Tom Meehan, Senior, one able speaker in his own right, also a host of other noted speakers of this part of the country . . . The crowd was certainly a fine one for opening day, probably a forerunner of what is to come . . . Hank Giardi as usual was his colorful self . . . We didn't see "Brute" Collaghan in uniform. He claims all his time goes for study this year . . . "Jim" Turner brings back memories of Rex Kidd with his unerring accuracy for points after touchdowns . . . Keep it up Jim because memories of that B. C. game two years ago still haunt us . . .

The Holy Cross band, thirty strong, made a brilliant introduction. On to Pittsburgh with the team . . . Bill Osmanski was very sick Friday night and Saturday morning before the game, but he still personally conducted the first touchdown march and eventually scored . . . Bill was an inspector this summer for the State, Joe Delaney also . . . It isn't exactly the time to bring up such items but in this year's freshman class there is a kid named English from Wilkes Barre, Pennsylvania who is said to be all right . . . He's a shortstop . . . He was captain of his high school team two years and was a regular four years, notable because he played on a very fast club . . . Father Hart has a gargantuan intramural schedule for the coming year . . . Father Dullea will be there, too, of course . . . These two priests love this particular kind of work and as a consequence make it highly successful . . . It is said Henry Ouellette will have to take especial care of his quarterback job, what with this guy Whelan . . .

Joe Osmanski has what it takes . . . So has Si Titus . . . They proved it Saturday . . . A lot of fellows wonder why Paul Dowd doesn't play football, since he was a wonder in high school . . . Jack Murphy from Stoneham thinks Giardi is incomparable on a football field and the reason was obvious Saturday . . . Melody's Nose took a worst beating than Larry Clinton's record in the cafeteria . . . Pete Manoli got a nasty cut from Saturday's fray. And Bill Histen, an accomplished pass receiver, spent Sunday in the infirmary.

The varsity of tomorrow, the freshmen, are in full swing, following faithfully the baton of Coach "Hop" Riopel who wields it mightily, and the tune promises to be sweet. For, gentlemen, this year's frosh contingent is about as cogent as anyone could hope for and then some. The team is studded with high school greats. The best of Boston is here and the best of many other places. Charlie Hanifan, Fred Kidd, Sheridan, Natowicz, Daly, Russo, Hughes are numbered among the innumerable satellites.

W. Turnesa Has Winning Card

A young graduate of last June crashed the name of Holy Cross into the headlines last week with the accomplishment of winning the National Amateur championship of golf. The name was Turnesa, and the popular Willie just off our campus, was the individual Turnesa. One of the famous golfing brothers, the baby of the family, achieved the ambition of every amateur golfer in winning. It was a brilliant accomplishment and Turnesa and Holy Cross were the talk of the golfing world. Willie is determined to remain the amateur he loves to be and at present is considering taking a favorable position in New York City. Good luck to you Willie.

INTRAMURALS IN DEBUT

The Intramural department is looking forward to a vigorous year under its new manager, George Naughton, '39. It was under his direction that last winter's intricate schedule of 270 intramural basketball games was carried to a successful conclusion. He is working now on the touch football schedule for the coming season, and is confident that the games this season will be better than ever before. He will be assisted this year by Junior Manager Tom Garvey, '40.

The temporary managers of the touch football teams have been posted on the Intramural bulletin board. These temporary managers are appointed by the office to get teams organized for the first game. A manager may transfer his appointment to another if he desires and after the first game each team should appoint a permanent manager. Temporary managers for Freshman corridor teams will be announced shortly.

Captain Osmanski Leads Gridmen To Win Over Providence

"Bullet Bill" Scores Initial Touchdown Of Season; Sophomore Line Strongly Impressive In First Appearance

Murt Lawrence, '40

Apparently still shaking from the effects of the recent hurricane, Providence's Friars were met with an equally devastating juggernaut in the persons of Osmanski, Renz, Whelan and Malinowski. These four running backs were the storm centers that followed in the wake of the blasting Jim Turner, Ray Monaco, Walt Walewski, and Si Titus. Four times the purple-tinted typhoon whipped across Fitton's greensward and so strong was the force of the gale that the black-bedecked Friars could buck the line for a net gain of only twenty-five yards.

OSMANSKI—RENZ

The first thunderbolt struck when Captain Bill Osmanski returned the opening kick-off thirty-three yards to start play on the forty-yard stripe. But this was just a warning gust which had its climax when Bill blew through right tackle for the first score. Jim Turner's boot was straight and true, and that made the score 7-0. Hurricane Hilly Renz carried the ball for the second tally on the same play that Captain Bill used for his score, and Jim Turner again added the extra point.

WHALEN—MALINOWSKI

The time-keeper's horn ended a march that had S-C-O-R-E written on it from end to end but after the initial appearance of the Bouvier, Deedy and Bugle Cheer Gang, the ball was placed daintily on the forty-yard line by Referee Daley, only to be moved up to the Providence forty-five a few minutes later. A person of responsibility tells us that the true reason for the late appearance was that the Friars were beginning to learn to stay indoors when these hurricanes are in the neighborhood. However, they needed another lesson to persuade them fully and out they came, only to have Quarterback Jack Whalen score another. Whalen, who mixed cross-winds and head-winds delightfully, completed the first pass of the day. Henry Giardi, who is one of the Cross' best backs, tossed the six points into Whalen's arms.

Came the fourth quarter and came also "Bronco" Bruno Malinowski. Bronco ripped and cut and slashed until he found himself holding a football and standing in the end-zone. This time Jack Kellar, a whirlwind anchored to a tackle position, place-kicked the extra point. From then on it was a running-between-the-rain-drops affair. Providence gained all of its twenty-five yards by rushing in these closing minutes, and made their second and third first downs. The first was made on two offside penalties.

Previous to the game some doubt was cast as to the strength of the Crusader line. But the play of Ray Monaco, Si Titus and Joe Zeno in the doubtful spots put an end to all questioning. Jim Turner, Bill Histen and Walt Walewski, of course, were taken for granted and the end play of Bob O'Reilly, Jack Reardon and Tom Barry showed that Champions really are Champions.

SECOND LOYOLA '38 BASEBALL CHAMPIONS; TENNIS AND CHESS CHARMS AWARDED

Due to the late completion of last spring's baseball schedule, the TOMAHAWK was unable to publish the names of the members of the winning team. The baseball championship was won by Loyola II after a successful season climaxed by a victory over the fast Alumni II outfit on Fitton Field. Charms were awarded to the following members of the class of '38: James J. Bowman, William J. Collins, Matthew J. Curran, Anthony A. DiGiovanni, Ambrose P. Doyle, W. Paul Dunn, John J. Harris, William F. Hazell, Clarence J. Mitchell, Thomas F. O'Connell, William R. O'Connell, T. Stephen O'Keefe, and Francis J. Vaas.

Charms were awarded to the following finalists in the Spring Tennis tournament: Fred C. Dyer, '38; Robert F. Hartcorn, '39; James H. Coffey, '40; and Nicholas B. Sharry, '41. James K. Jones, '41, won the intramural charm as Chess champion of the college.

FALL TENNIS

Late entries for the Fall Tennis tournament may be made to Father Hart in his room on Fourth O'Kane, or in the Gym. Each entry should contain the full name, corridor and room number of the entrant.

Curtain Calls

By Hugh Hayes Harlow

Due to the big wind, another much talked of production, 'Whiteoaks' by name, now in its second week in Boston, has so far been beyond our reach but we hope to have all the news on that shortly. As a general rule, where Miss Ethel Barrymore walks, there walks the theater in its most majestic majesty. The de la Roche novels are familiar to us all, and it doesn't take a telescope to see that they should be material for very fine drama.

Maxwell Anderson's latest effort, which contains music for the first time in any of his works, as far as we can remember, is 'Knickerbocker Holiday,' which has its opening night at the Schubert. This happens also to be the first presentation of the newly formed Playwrights' Producing Company, of which Mr. Anderson is a partner. Walter Hume has the lead, which adds to the prestige and promise which its author's name naturally lends it.
